This instruction implements AFD 36-30, Military Entitlements; Department of Defense (DoD) Directive 1338.5, Armed Forces Clothing Monetary Allowance Policy, August 13, 1980; DoD Instruction 1338.18, Armed Forces Clothing Monetary Allowance Procedures, July 29, 1985; and DoD Regulation 7000.14-R, Volume VII, Part A, DoD Financial Management Regulation (Department of Defense Military Pay and Allowances Entitlements Manual) October 1, 1994. It provides information and responsibilities for the Air Force clothing programs. It addresses civilian clothing, initial issue, and supplemental clothing allowances. It provides current fiscal year rates for the allowances. It applies to all active duty enlisted personnel and may apply to active duty officers and Air National Guard (ANG) and United States Air Force Reserve (USAFR) enlisted personnel (DODI 1338.18 para B). Attachment 1 lists abbreviations and acronyms used in this instruction.

SUMMARY OF REVISIONS

This revision updates all clothing rates for Fiscal Year 1997 (FY97); identifies the maternity uniform items that are to be mandatorily issued-in-kind; provides guidance for the Civilian Clothing Allowance and Supplemental Clothing Allowance Programs; and adds a supplemental clothing allowance for USAFA Radio Maintenance Work Center Technicians and Prior Service Office Training School (OTS) Trainees.

1. General Responsibilities.

- 1.1. The Deputy Chief of Staff (DCS), Personnel (HQ USAF/DP). Through the Chief of the Air Force Uniform Section, is responsible for administering and managing the civilian, initial issue and supplemental clothing allowance programs by developing and disseminating policy, plans, and program guidance (see attachment 2).
- 1.2. The National Guard Bureau and US Air Force Reserve. Are responsible for determining the initial issue clothing and supplemental clothing allowances for members of their respective components (see attachment 3).
- 1.3. The Major Command (MAJCOM); Field Operating Agency; Direct Reporting Unit Director of Personnel. Initiates requirements and acts as the final approval authority for all civilian clothing allowance requests. The approval authority may be delegated down to a subordinate level within the organization. However, the delegation of authority remains at the discretion of the parent organization.

NOTE: Directors of government agencies or equivalent rank within military organizations may also establish requirements for civilian clothing.

2. Principles and Special Considerations of Clothing Allowance Programs. Refer to DoD Regulation 7000.14-R, Volume VII, Part A for information on clothing programs. The following additional instructions apply to the Air Force.

- 2.1. Civilian Clothing Allowance Program. Air Force personnel must wear appropriate Air Force uniforms while performing military duties. However, there are times, for reasons such as security or safety, when members must wear civilian clothes. When competent authority determines the wear of civilian clothes is mandatory, Air Force officers assigned at a location outside the United States and enlisted personnel may receive a civilian clothing allowance.

- 2.1.1. The Military Personnel Flight will automatically authorize a civilian clothing allowance for enlisted personnel when:
- The Foreign Clearance Guide mandates civilian clothing at the member's duty location.
 - Members are assigned to Technical Assistance Field Teams or are Technical Service Specialists. They receive the maximum amount regardless of tour length.
 - The Joint US Military Assistance Advisory Group certifies a requirement for civilian clothing.
 - A member is assigned to the White House Communications Agency.
 - The Assignment Instruction Code indicates civilian clothing must be worn. For officers to be automatically authorized a civilian clothing allowance they must be permanently assigned to a duty location outside the United States in addition to meeting one of the above criteria.
- 2.1.2. Civilian Clothing Allowances. There are three types of civilian clothing allowances: initial, continuing, and temporary duty (TDY).
- 2.1.2.1. Initial Civilian Clothing Allowance. An initial civilian clothing allowance is authorized when an officer is assigned to a location outside the United States or an enlisted member is assigned duty where the wear of civilian clothing is mandatory. Civilian clothes should meet those requirements for business, work, and seasonal climatic conditions. Since the type of clothes needed varies with each location, A "summer," "winter," or "summer and winter" allowance may be paid. A summer and winter allowance should be paid only when seasonal and climatic conditions dictate. Department of Defense Instruction (DoDI) 1338.13, Armed Forces Clothing Monetary Allowance Procedures, provides the maximum payable allowances.
- 2.1.2.1.1. Base the maximum initial allowance payable on the assigned tour length (including required extensions) requiring the wear of civilian clothing and on the seasonal and climatic conditions of the tour location. Do not authorize an initial allowance for more than 36 months. An initial allowance for a period of less than 36 months is a prorated initial allowance.
- 2.1.2.1.2. Compute entitlement to an initial allowance from the earliest of one of three dates:
- The date of first payment of an initial allowance.
 - The date of Permanent Change of Station (PCS) arrival at a new station
 - The date of performance of duty requiring the wear of civilian clothing--enlisted; the date of performance of duty requiring the wear of civilian clothing in a location outside the United States--officers.
- 2.1.2.1.3. Individuals may later qualify for future initial clothing allowances provided there has been an interim assignment not requiring the wear of civilian clothing. EXCEPTION: If a member is assigned duty requiring the wear of civilian clothing and has received a prorated initial allowance within the past 3 years, the member may receive an additional prorated allowance. The amount paid cannot exceed the current maximum fiscal year rate reduced by previous payments made within the 3-year period. Reenlistment within 3 months after separation is considered continuous active duty. An exception to the above rules is an individual assigned to either a Technical Assistance Field Team or as an Engineering and Technical Service Specialist. These individuals receive the maximum amount, regardless of tour length.
- 2.1.2.2. Continuing Civilian Clothing Allowance. A continuing civilian clothing allowance is authorized when the wear of civilian clothing continues to be required and 3 years have elapsed since an initial clothing allowance was paid. The anniversary date is 3 years from the date on which the member was first entitled to an initial or prorated initial clothing allowance.
- 2.1.2.2.1. Members who voluntarily extend their Date Eligible for Return from Overseas (DEROS) or who are directed to remain in the assignment requiring the wearing of civilian clothing for at least an additional 6 months are authorized 20 percent of the initial allowance at the current fiscal year rate.
- 2.1.2.2.2. Members who voluntarily extend their (DEROS) or who are directed to remain in the assignment requiring the wearing of civilian clothing for at least an additional 12 months are authorized 30 percent of the initial allowance at the current fiscal year rate.
- 2.1.2.2.3. Members who have received an initial civilian clothing allowance for duties performed at a permanent duty station and who are ordered to a consecutive permanent assignment (officers must be ordered to a consecutive permanent assignment at a location outside the United States) requiring the wearing of civilian clothing are authorized 50 percent of the current maximum allowance for the latter tour assignment.
- 2.1.2.2.4. Members who are required to wear civilian clothing on a continuing basis (regardless of tour length) are authorized a continuing civilian clothing allowance. This allowance is authorized for members who remain in the assignment for which he or she received an initial clothing allowance and is payable on or after each 3-year anniversary of the date of the initial allowance. The amount must be 50 percent of the current maximum initial allowance.
- 2.1.2.3. Temporary Duty Civilian Clothing Allowances. A TDY civilian clothing allowance is authorized when members are TDY for 16 or more consecutive days to a location where the wear of civilian clothes is mandatory. Officers must be stationed at a location outside the United States and be ordered TDY to another location outside the United States for 15 or more consecutive days to qualify for the TDY allowance. DoDI 1338.18 provides the maximum payable allowances. TDY allowance payments of less than the maximum are considered prorated TDY allowances. If a member has received a prorated TDY allowance within a 3-year period of continuous active duty, the amount of the additional prorated TDY allowance cannot exceed the current maximum FY rate reduce by previous TDY allowance payments within the 3-year period. Consider reenlistment within 3 months after separation as continuous active duty. Payment may be made on receipt of orders authorizing the allowance.
- 2.1.2.3.1. Do not authorize more than the maximum TDY allowance within a 3-year period of continuous active duty.

2.1.2.3.2. Compute entitlement to the TDY allowance from:

- The earlier of the date of first payment of a TDY allowance.
- The date departed TDY.
- The date of performance of duty requiring the wear of civilian clothing.

2.1.2.3.3. Authorize no payment for inflight stopovers where civilian clothes must be worn.

2.1.2.3.4. EXCEPTIONS: There are three exceptions to the above rules for TDY civilian clothing allowance.

2.1.2.3.4.1. When members must go on numerous short TDYs where civilian clothes are mandatory, but because of the short length of the TDY they do not qualify for a civilian clothing allowance, they may receive a maximum payment of $200. Officers must be stationed at a location outside the United States and perform numerous short TDYs to other locations outside the United States where civilian clothes are mandatory to qualify for the $200 payment. In such cases, the wing commander, Deputy Chief of Staff (DCS) at a numbered Air Force or major command (MAJCOM), or equivalent, can authorize payment. The commander cannot grant such payment until the individual is actually tasked to perform the TDY; it is not automatic upon assignment to an organization "normally tasked" with such duty.

2.1.2.3.4.2. Explosive Detector Dog (EDD) and Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) personnel receiving valid United States Secret Service (USSS) taskings are not restricted to the TDY tour limitation as outlined in DoDI 1338.18. They are authorized to receive the maximum TDY allowance (over 30 consecutive days) regardless of length of the TDY. These personnel are authorized prepayment upon official notification of official tasking.

2.2. Supplemental Clothing Allowance Program. Attachment 4 lists the approved allowances and the rates payable for FY97.

2.2.1. Supplemental Clothing Allowance is an allowance of optional or mandatory clothing items, as explained in AFI 36-2903. It is in addition to any other clothing allowance enlisted members may be authorized. HQ USAF/DPPC approves these allowances for specific categories of individuals, to help meet the initial cost of buying additional specified items of uniform clothing. The additional items must be required for special duty assignment or attainment of a specific status. A supplemental allowance is granted only when duties clearly require the additional uniform clothing. The unit commander determines each enlisted member's need for this extra allowance, within the intent of the allowance.

2.2.1.1. All additional items and quantities must be based on either of the criteria as follows:

2.2.1.1.1. The clothing is needed for an exemplary (rather than creditable) appearance, based on active military representation before groups of high-ranking military, civic, educational, business, or foreign dignitaries.

NOTE: Active, as used here, means giving presentations, speeches, lectures, etc., or engaging in official business matters as the center of attention. It does not include marching, taking part in social events, or being present when high-ranking military or civilian dignitaries visit a facility or function, or;

2.2.1.1.2. The individual must wear the uniform full-time under abnormal working conditions or duty.

2.2.1.2. An individual does not receive more than one such allowance for the same basic items of uniform clothes during any period of continuous active duty unless:

2.2.1.2.1. Three or more years have lapsed between effective date of the new and the last day of the duty assignment requiring the supplemental allowance;.

2.2.1.2.2. The individual reenlists or is recalled after more than 3 months (from date of discharge or release from active duty) and meets all other requirements for the allowance, or;

2.2.1.2.3. At least 3 years have lapsed since the initial need for a maternity uniform, and a new requirement exists.

2.2.1.3. An individual who transfers from one AFSC or organization to another, in which a supplemental clothing allowance is authorized, is entitled to any additional items of the subsequent allowance.

2.2.1.3.1. If a partial payment is authorized, specific items for which the payment is made must be listed. The partial payment must not be more than the current sales value of the clothing items listed.

2.2.1.3.2. The military pay order for a subsequent allowance must show the previous duty assignment and the inclusive dates for which the allowance was authorized.

2.2.2. Processing Requests for Approval of a New Supplemental Clothing Allowance. Send requests for new or revised supplemental clothing allowances, through command channels, to the Military Compensation and Legislation Division at: HQ USAF/DPPC, 1040 Air Force Pentagon, Washington DC 20330-1040. In preparing these requests the following information/statements should be included as a minimum:

- That uniform clothing costs are abnormal.
- The current initial item uniform clothing cost allowance is inadequate.
- A list of the uniform items needed and quantities desired.
- A statement describing how or why the current initial item uniform clothing allowance is inadequate.
- The (average) normal daily duty hours and the number of days a week the individual performs normal duties. This indicates how often regular duty uniforms are worn.
- The mandatory uniforms prescribed for wear.
- The average number of days during the year each special/distinctive uniform is worn.
- The average number of days prescribed uniforms are worn between cleanings.

- The extra uniform allowances authorized for enlisted members of other branches of service involved in the same or similar duties (if any).
- Any alternative considered for reducing the impact of the uniform requirements on the individual.
- The names or titles of specific dignitaries and high-ranking officials, and their frequency of involvement in presentations made by the individual (if proper).
- The number of personnel for which the allowance is desired.

3. New Clothing Items. The Uniform Section, Military Compensation and Legislation Division will introduce new clothing on an optional basis and will establish the mandatory wear date once all members have accumulated the cost of the new item in their clothing replacement allowance.

4. Clothing Substitutions. Members must maintain eight complete sets of uniforms. Uniform clothing items, manufactured from approved optional-type fabrics, shades, and designs may be substituted for like, standard issue items listed in attachment 2 and 3 when authorized for wear by AFI 36-2903.
